Atmospheric Pollutants

1

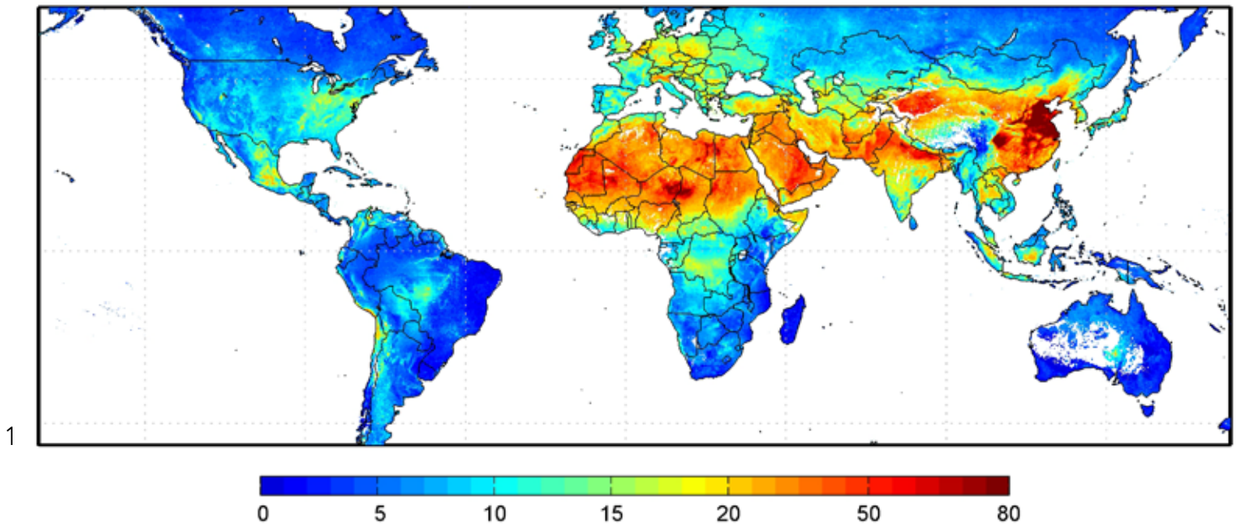

Barcelona being divided in a residential and industrial area the pollution that it contributes is not visually understood by the people sayting in the residential area

2

Though there is a vast difference in the two sides of the city, the overall contribution towards air pollution is much more than the average. One can also see a very minor involvement of residents of the city towards the policies that the government bodies

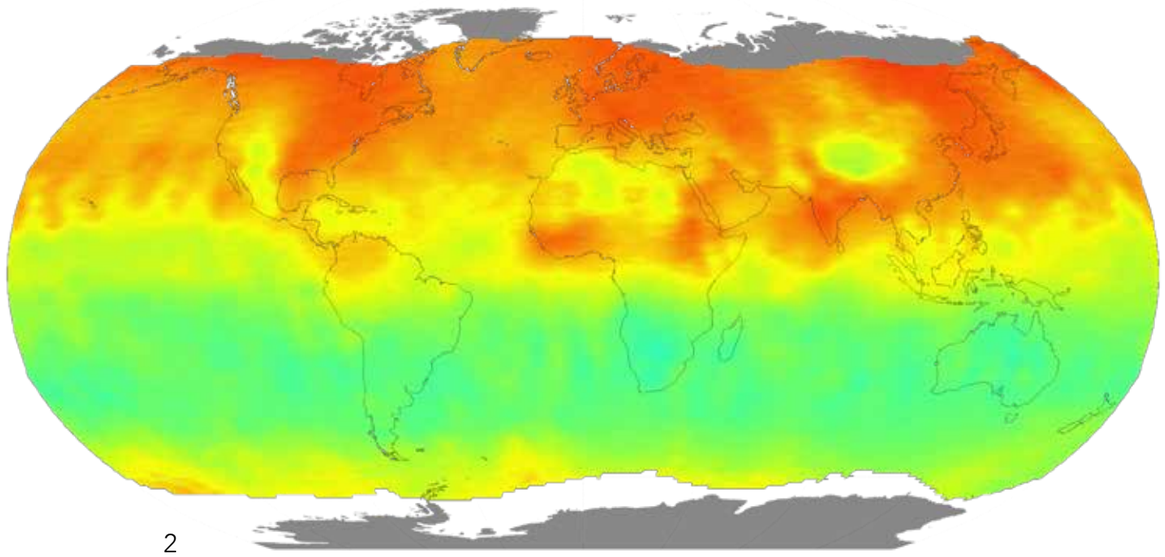

3

It is of upmost importance that people's participtionis seen to spread awareness about air pollution and it's harmful effects are planning
